

CENTER FOR HEALTH AND EMERGENCY SERVICES

Pueblo Community College

Stress Management for Emergency Responders

Objective: To provide an organized approach to the management of event-induced stress for first responders.

Overview: This program is designed to prepare responders for the emotional stressors involved in a terrorist or WMD incident, to help mitigate the critical incident stressors, and to help diminish or forestall any potential long-term emotional difficulties resulting from the response to a WMD incident.

Who Should Attend: First responders. First receivers, mental health professionals, public officials and administrators; emergency operations planners, managers and staff; emergency communications officers; public works; public health technical and management personnel; military members and media representatives.

Featuring:

Dr. Lana Carter

And

Alan Ziff

Course Length: One day - 8 hours

Session Options: Choose one date

Tuesday	July 21, 2009	8:00 AM—5:00 PM
Friday	July 24, 2009	8:00 AM—5:00 PM

Pueblo Community College

Occhiato Theater - Gorsich Advanced Technology Building

900 West Orman Avenue - Pueblo, Colorado

Registration: $25 per person

Payment Method:

Check Enclosed	Payable to: Pueblo Community College
Purchase Order	Contact Name & Telephone
Credit Card	Contact the Pueblo Community College Cashier's Office to provide credit card information at (719) 549-3212 Refer to Stress Management for 1st Responders

For more information, contact 719.549.3320 or toll free at 1.866.478.3256

Visit our website for registration material at:

<http://www.pueblocc.edu/CommunityOutreach/BusinessDevelopment/Academy.htm>